

Command your brand.

End-to-end visibility, insights and control of the customer journey that gives power back to brands.

Despite what other commerce enablement and analytics providers may tell you, there's no magic wand or "set it and forget it" solution for brands to succeed across thousands of marketplaces against countless competitors.

A holistic approach to getting in front of your most valuable customers and ensuring they get the best shopping experience requires a proactive, intentional approach to monitoring, managing and investing in your five Ps: product, price, place, promotion ... and now, the path to purchase.

PriceSpider's powerful combination of digital shelf analytics and shoppable solutions helps brands:

Grow market share

Increase sales & profitability

Reduce costs

Protect brand equity

Earn & retain customer loyalty

Sell more products everywhere

Don't settle for half of the customer journey—or your marketing ROI.

Take end-to-end control of your brand with PriceSpider.

No gut feelings. All glory.

Measure, manage and make the most of your ecommerce data.

Every day, PriceSpider crawls thousands of ecommerce sites to collect data about what, when, why, where and how shoppers purchase online. That data gives our customers real-time, actionable insights into where their marketing dollars are performing (and aren't), which retailers sell more of their products than anyone else, and where gaps in the customer experience may be costing them sales.

With PriceSpider, brands can ditch the gut feeling and put their data to work.

We empower brands to make informed business decisions that optimize their ad dollars, grow their most profitable retailer relationships and create customer experiences that keep shoppers coming back.

Two solutions greater than sum of their parts:

Combine the power of digital shelf analytics and shoppable solutions in one platform to take end-to-end control of your buyer journey.

A trusted commerce community:

Rely on our decades of industry experience and consolidate your vendor list through partnership with a team that thousands of the world's leading companies trust to help them build bigger, better brands.

More actionable insights than anyone else:

Every day, we collect millions of impressions and real-time data from brands, retailers and ecommerce sites to power the insights our customers can use to eliminate costly guesswork, optimize the customer journey and drive sales.

Strategic internal collaboration:

Bring brand teams together and eliminate silos with insights to help you collaboratively align marketing and long-term business goals.
